Passive gains

Systems that make me better, passively

Feedback review

Reviews my meeting notes and active Slack threads to show me patterns in how I give feedback: what I’m overdoing, what I’m missing, where my point of view is strongest.

Weekly recap

Turns Slack, meeting notes, and calendar into a running record of my work, the only place that exists since I work across verticals with no one owning the roadmap but me. Comes in handy for performance reviews and impact conversations.

Focus-time protection

Before each month starts, scans my calendar and blocks focus time automatically.
